

BAD BOYS PRESS RELEASE

I am reaching out to invite you to join two of the baddest boys to come out of the Oxford comedy scene for an hour of fun and thoughtful stand up comedy. We would love to offer you free press tickets to our free show: Bad Boys.

With five finalist-credits between them (So You Think You're Funny x2, Bath New Act Third Place, Musical Comedy Awards, Max Turner Prize): Chelsea Birkby is mentally ill "her bipolar disorder providing another avenue for comedy" -Steve Bennett, Chortle, "a surprise hit...an hilarious set peppered with cheeky adult humour" -Oxford Mail, and "One to Watch" Funny Women, "my jaw soon aching with laughter*" -Oxford Times. Jamie D'Souza is "mixed race", "an engaging presence" -Steve Bennett, Chortle and "effortlessly funny" (London Theatre Direct)". "His unruffled delivery is appealing, and his set amusing - *" - Broadway Baby.

Covering heavy topics with a lightness of touch and sharpness of wit, both Jamie and Chelsea have been praised for their charm and joke density AND WE HAVE A FOG MACHINE WHICH WE MAY OR MAY NOT BE ALLOWED TO USE. Each night you, the audience, choose who is the baddest boy- it could be Jamie, it could be Chelsea, it could even be you.

We would love for you to enjoy and review our show, or if you don't enjoy it then not review it:
