

Laughs by the dozen as ComedySportz marks 12th year at the Edinburgh Fringe!

CSzUK presents
ComedySportz UK

Back for their 12th year at the Fringe this family favourite show promises more all action, all improvised competitive comedy shenanigans to delight audiences of all ages.

"It's comedy as a sport, not about sports," says player Sean Mason. "It's a show that anyone of all ages and backgrounds can enjoy. We've had everyone in from soap stars to royalty!"

Two teams go for comedy gold with quick-witted gags, games, sketches and songs inspired by your suggestions. There's a referee on hand to ensure a good clean match with penalties for bad behaviour and bad jokes. It's up to the audience to decide the winners in this totally unpredictable and unscripted show that is fun for kids and adults alike.

There are also plenty of opportunities for audiences to get involved in the action as well, from shouting out suggestions to joining the teams as a volunteer player. "Making the audience feel a part of the action is really important to us," says Sean. "They can get as invested in how teams do as they would if it were the Premier League, often coming to watch the show multiple times during the Fringe."

Following a sell-out run at the Free Sisters in 2018, the team will be performing twice a day to meet demand and the team will be joined by ComedySportz players from all over the world to make this a truly international fringe show.

"We're delighted to once again be performing with the Free Edinburgh Fringe Festival, ensuring families can see as many shows as they want without having to sell one of the kids to afford the tickets," adds Sean. Be sure to plan an hour or two with ComedySportz when you #MakeYourFringe this August!
