

Jane Postlethwaite & Joe McCarthy: 'Terrible People'

Saturday 14 May, Sunday 15 May, Saturday 21 May & Sunday 22 May at the Caroline of Brunswick at 9.30pm.

Friends for over seven long and tedious years, Jane Postlethwaite and Joe McCarthy have joined forces to bring a split hour of new stand up comedy.

Jane's a Cumbrian Comedian, Writer and Actor. She's well known for producing her own one woman shows for Brighton and Edinburgh Fringe since 2015 to sell out audiences receiving rave reviews. Her previous work includes comedy character shows 'Made in Cumbria' and 'The House'. Also, an autobiographical show about mental health 'Last Night at the Circus' and a comedy sketch show, 'Haunted'. 'Terrible People' is her return to stand up comedy after dabbling in it many moons ago.

Jane's accolades include being a Funny Women Award and Brighton Comedy Festival Award Finalist. She was also in the heats of the BBC New Comedy Awards in 2018. She has written and performed on a couple of BBC Radio 4 shows.

Joe is a Brighton based stand up comedian and writer who's popular on the Brighton Comedy scene. Joe's last Brighton Fringe show was "Death, Goths, Kittens & Other Cute Things" about his experiences of death after tragically losing fifteenth friends and family in eighteen months. He's also ran popular monthly comedy shows in Brighton and is a likeable MC. He's been referred to as "Very funny twat" by TV's comedic actor Joe Wilkinson.

Together they've starred in Dom Joly's show "Trigger Happy TV" as 'Jesters in bin one and nine'. A highlight of their career- even if they do say so themselves.

'Terrible People' is a must see stand up comedy show filled with brutally honest true stories, dark comparisons of the human psyche and other clique' nonsense themes that awful people stick in their press release. The main question of the show being, 'Who really are the terrible people these days?'
