

Radio comedy hits the stage at Edinburgh

A collection of radio sketches will be performed live at Edinburgh Fringe this August.

“Sketch Up!” is a hilarious smorgasbord of audio sketches written by Rachel E. Thorn and performed live by professional actors.

The show comes highly recommended by one of the nation’s most famous comedians, Alistair McGowan. He declares it to be “deliciously witty - Rachel E. Thorn is a brilliant writer.”

Thorn has many BBC radio credits, including for Dead Ringers and Breaking The News. She says, “I love writing for audio because it’s the theatre of the mind. And this show is the ideal combination of radio and live comedy. Just perfect for Edinburgh Fringe! It’s also suitable for visually impaired audiences.”

“Sketch Up!” is at 32 Below at The Pear Tree as part of Edinburgh Fringe from Friday 5th August to Saturday 20th August at 11am. Audiences are invited to pay what they can in advance to guarantee a seat, or turn up for free and donate at the end. Tickets are available from: <https://tickets.edfringe.com/whats-on/sketch-up>

Listings Information

Venue: 32 Below, The Pear Tree

Dates: 5th-20th August (not 16th)

Time: 11am

Ticket prices: Pay what you can from £5.

Online box office: <https://tickets.edfringe.com/whats-on/sketch-up>

NOTES FOR EDITORS:

“Sketch Up!” is a collection of radio sketches performed live, written by Rachel E. Thorn and performed by professional actors.

For more details contact Rachel E. Thorn: 07989 758373, rachelethorn@hotmail.com ends/...